Education in workplace health and safety hazards, and relevant legislation will be incorporated into your training program.

Conduct

All PARCOR participants are expected to take responsibility, in line with all current workplace practices and legislation, for their own learning and behaviour during both on- and off-the-job training and assessment. Any breaches of discipline will result in the participant being given a verbal warning. Further breaches will result in the participant having to “show cause” as to why they should not be excluded from further participation in the program.

All participants of PARCOR are treated as individuals and are offered advice and referral to support services which assist participants in achieving their identified outcomes.

PARCOR does not offer formal welfare or guidance services but every effort will be made to assist participants to access appropriate support agencies.

Where participants require additional practice and training PARCOR may arrange appropriate language, literacy and numeracy support.

PARCOR Trainers are not LLN assessors, however are required to ensure the LLN requirements of the training package are met. If a participant is assessed as not meeting the English requirements, this is not discrimination, but an assessment. Please raise any concerns prior to commencing any PARCOR courses.

Competency Based Assessment

All assessment tasks are competency based and are designed to evaluate evidence that a participant can demonstrate competency in all relevant area of the unit.

Participants are provided with every opportunity, within their course duration and by receiving assessment feedback, to obtain and show competency. Participants not able to show competency after the completion of their course will have the opportunity to redo the aspects of the assessment that require evidence of the participant's competence. This must be achieved within one month of completing the course, alternately, it may be decided that the participant will need to re-enrol in the course.

Assessment Pathways

PARCOR offers participants various assessment pathways appropriate to the training package outcome.

Assessment conducted for the purposes of national recognition may lead to a part or a full qualification under the Australian Qualifications Framework. The main assessment pathways to a qualification can be listed as follows:

- Off-the-job training and assessment
- Workplace assessment
- Recognition of prior learning (RPL) /recognition of current competence (RCC)

Credit Transfer

Credit Transfer is a process that provides you with credit based on the same content and learning outcomes between other courses or qualifications you may have done.

Credit transfer determines whether a course you have previously done is the same or equivalent as the one you are enrolling in. If you have a statement of attainment or a certificate for any units of competency/qualifications/courses issued by any Registered Training Organisation, you should bring them to your trainer assessor. Your trainer assessor will complete a check for any direct credit transfer that can be done.

If you have any other certificates or qualifications (not issued by a Registered Training Organisation) bring those to your trainer assessor as well, so that they can be assessed for any potential credit transfer.

For further information about Credit Transfer you can see your trainer assessor at any time for information or for an application. For general information you can look up the website www.parcor.com.au

PARCOR aims to ensure that an individual's prior learning is recognised, irrespective of where or how the learning has taken place.

PARCOR has developed a system of that is offered to all participants to ensure there is no unnecessary duplication of training or assessment, and to ensure maximum recognition of current skills and knowledge. These systems are detailed in the "recognition of prior learning" guide.

If you are not successful in your first attempt at a re-sit assessment you will be given a new assessment.

If you are not successful in your second attempt at a re-sit assessment you will be required to re-enrol and repeat of the unit of competency.

Additional fees may be payable where an assessor is required to travel to a client site for any form of reassessment. PARCOR will endeavour to schedule the reassessment at a time a date that will minimise the fees payable. This will be negotiated with the participant and their employer.
